2nd Annual CHOREOGRAPHY MEDIA HONORS In Association with Dance Camera West Honors the art and craft of choreography for the camera on JUNE 13, 2008

CHOREOGRAPHY MEDIA HONORS returns for a second year while adding a special panel discussion at the DGA.

Los Angeles, CA (April 22, 2008)-- The 2nd Annual Choreography Media Honors (CMH) proudly returns to the Director's Guild of America to celebrate and honor outstanding achievements in choreography for the camera. Presented in conjunction with the 7th Annual 2008 Dance Camera West Media Film Festival, a highly lauded Los Angeles month long festival devoted to the merging of choreography and cinema, the CMH will present the honored work at their gala screening event at the prestigious Director's Guild of America (DGA) in Hollywood on Friday, June 13, 2008.

CMH is a special event that pays tribute to the art and craft of dance in film, television, commercials, and video. The special screening will be preceded by a VIP party with special guests from the casts of "So You Think You Can Dance" and "Dancing with the Stars." The screening will immediately be followed by a reception for all in attendance. In addition to the festivities, a special panel discussion regarding the art of collaboration between directors and choreographers will be presented on Saturday, June 14, 2008 (exact time and location TBA).

Last year's CMH event hosted by Paula Abdul, Kenny Ortega, Carrie Ann Inaba, and Adam Shankman was a resounding success attended by the entertainment industry's premier dancers, choreographers, producers, and directors. This year's CMH hosts will major celebrities from the world of dance, with plans to be equally, if not more exciting.
